

CALDER MARSHALL

Web Developer

SUMMARY

Hello, my name is Calder. I am a software engineer interested in the pursuit of knowledge and commitment to self-Improvement. My leadership experience and time spent on the make line create comfortability in team & individual dynamics. My greatest weakness might be taking on too many projects at once, either for business or pleasure. I always finish my projects, but my attention to detail can sometimes be self-deprecating. Contact me and ask about my latest venture!
